

As noted previously, the CCB will begin offering the Advanced Alcohol & Drug Counselor certification, a master's level credential reciprocal through the IC&RC, on July 1. This credential is developed by international subject matter experts under the supervision of a professional psychometrician to ensure that it is a reliable product that represents the most current research in the field for the treatment of individuals with substance use and/or co-occurring disorders. We have received many inquiries about the grandparenting process, and have completed an informational flyer that can be accessed HERE. Application materials and instructions are also available through that link.
